Tachyus built a $20M pipeline through precision outbound

A case study on how Fulcrum helped an AI reservoir-optimization leader reach enterprise buyers and convert outreach into measurable revenue.

WHO THEY ARE

Tachyus is a leader in AI-driven reservoir optimization for upstream oil & gas operators. Their platform helps asset teams maximize production and recovery — sold to technical buyers like reservoir engineers and commercial decision-makers at enterprise contract values of $100K and above.

THE PROBLEM

Tachyus had a strong product but no repeatable way to fill the top of funnel. Enterprise O&G sales are long-cycle and relationship-driven; generic outbound would not work. They needed qualified conversations with the right people — at scale — without losing credibility with a highly technical audience.

THE RESULT

Over 27 months, Fulcrum reached 9,200 ICP contacts through coordinated email, phone, and LinkedIn — generating $20.1M in pipeline, 68 sales-qualified meetings, and 4 closed deals worth $400K in revenue and $1.2M in projected lifetime value.
